How to evaluate? Usual roles and responsibilities in evaluation

Evaluations are not the only work of evaluators, but collective efforts, in which different types of stakeholders have specific roles and responsibilities:
Policy maker / senior management: Promote the evaluation function. Use evaluation findings and recommendations.

Reference group: Quality control and results dissemination. Critical friends role.

Project manager: Responsible for implementing the project and for programming and supporting the evaluation.

Evaluation manager: Responsible for putting together the evaluation team, and for facilitating and overseeing their work

Evaluator / evaluation team: Responsible for conducting the evaluation

Strengthening NEC: UNODC's experience in Morocco

4. NEC e-learning for government staff, policy makers, evaluation practitioners in partner countries

Exercise: Identifying decisions that are not based on evidence

Please match the decision making examples below to each corresponding reason for deciding

"I have so many good proposals that I think I'll just roll a dice and choose one"	Urgency
"I don't care that enforcement instruments are not included. Perhaps the proposed bill is not perfect, but it is a step forward and it needs to be sent to Parliament now".	Serendipity
"It is a very interesting proposal indeed. This is the same programme that worked so well in the South region, right?"	Aesthetics
"I don't know why the keep sending me evaluation reports when everyone knows what needs to be done"	Guts
"I still can't decide which is the best option, so I'll just pick one. How about the one with the funny monkeys on the presentation?"	Anecdotes
